"Dreary and Desolate?" Say What?

Love will finally mark the hour of harmony, and spiritualization will follow, for Love is Spirit. Before error is wholly destroyed, there will be interruptions of the general material routine. Earth will become dreary and desolate, but summer and winter, seedtime and harvest (though in changed forms), will continue unto the end, — until the final spiritualization of all things. "The darkest hour precedes the dawn."

(Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, Mary Baker Eddy, p. 96:4)

I have questions!

1.) Is the notion of Earth becoming "dreary and desolate" a cover for ecocide, so that we don't challenge ecocide's commission? How about as a cover for the outright destruction of the planet?
2.) What is meant by spiritualization? Transformation of all things into impersonal, financialized markets, perhaps? Something else?
3.) What does this "final spiritualization" look like? Is it consistent with that which is harmful to us and/or to others? Could it honestly be described as dystopian?
